29th Unitariertag

22.-25. May 2015
Worms, Germany

Unitariertag 2015

Since 1959 the German Unitarians (Deutschen Unitarier) organize nationwide biannual gatherings in alternating cities. The 29th Unitariertag returns to the roots of the Unitarian and Free Protestant movement: Worms. The Free Protestant Congregation (Freie Protestanten) was found in nearby Alzey in 1876. In 1950 the German Unitarians were recorded in the register of associations in Worms.

Spuren lesen // Wege bahnen

From 22nd to 25th of May 2015 friends of free religion from young to old from Germany, Europa and all over the world come together to revel, to discuss, to enjoy music and silence and to experience community. This year's motto "noticing marks // channeling paths" invites to give attention to the tracks of the previous Unitarian-free religious development, to live religion and to develop new ways of religious self-reliance together.
