

Facilitators Training Program On Human Rights Education

Background

The IARF- Human Rights Resource Centre (HRRC) is an integral part of the International Association for Religious Freedom (IARF) which holds ECOSOC General Consultative Status at the United Nations. The IARF-HRRC is administered by the IARF young adult Net-work called RFYN in South Asia. The IARF – HRRC form the backbone of Human Rights Education training domain as they are peace providers to the young generation as well as the key fulfilling the human's requirements for basic rights. With the growing demand for Human Rights Education, there is increasing demand for quality facilitators. While majority of the facilitators may possess subject knowledge, many lack teaching skills, soft skills and presentation skills. The non-availability of quality of facilitators severely limits the quality of skill training imparted in Human Rights organizations. The IARF- HRRC has taken the step to provide quality training for its facilitators on Human Rights Education.
